MORE LIGHT.
The Belleville Intelligencer

great interest in the Recorder present a remark we made in a review relative to the kind of support members of the present staff expect from their adherents, and that Mr. T. C. Wallbridge had would not support a government. Mr. Campbell was a member. In proof of this, the Intelligencer in hot haste to defend the Recorder and asks us for "more light." We indulge him for once. We understand Wallbridge complains not of the Commissioner has mal-administration, but that he has dispensed with the aid of his colleagues thereof, as well as the patronage of his colleagues during their late visit to England, in a manner designed to show Mr. Ws. standing with his colleagues, and that Mr. Wallbridge ble, will help to make the sible before the people, and ask him a carte blanche to vote denance in any administration a member, on that ground.

By way of affording the "more light," we would fur-it was currently reported in T the late Convention days, that of Hamilton, Mr. A. M. Smith and Mr. Rose at Prince Edw ly complain of an interference pactive constituencies by the ter. If this be true, and we good information, it develops liberal members of the cabin Commissioner to book.

It is rather an indelicate the least of it, that during t Messrs. Howard and Mac

land, there should have been exercise of government paternalism of depriving them of the right to be in the house. If the Intelligencer yet sees the point, we would like to remove some of the governmentizing from his columns, where his vision will be improved by nothing about Mr. Bowell's part in "the gold fields," with an ex-Warden and others who have been doing a big business in hinting at this, a short time ago. Bowell valiantly demanded that we are almost inclined to think that the information justified the expression, "well 'feathered his nest.'" The Intelligencer so sensitive to the connection with the Committee so fierce when Mr. Wallbridge was the first place, the Commission had been kind to Mr. Bowell, and now, in place, Mr. Bowell is to open the bridge at next election. The account for the milk is the cocoa-but. As to the rum, it is temporary, that the Messrs. offered their support to Mr. McDonald and the offer of any child could tell that such a thing is more like a rum for the occasion, to damage the Brockville Recorder.

THE DUTY OF THE policy of the new privy Council, in accordance with the views of the Commons, the members and others take their places, on the Government are the underskud wishes of the people by their representatives situation. Now what has the Governor, whom we hold the appointments—for it is the prerogative over which have any possible control—the Government of the hands of thirteen men, selected from the two great heretofore governed the province themselves Liberals, six conservatives, and one formerly who has acted lately with the under whose auspices as in the machinery of Government in motion, and the Dominion will take its place among exponents. Both great political parties united to make the electoral numbers from both have to give it life and vitality. In the history of this country, duty devolved upon the people has been done is merely pre-whether we shall have happiness in the new order of the day and confusion, will depend moderation, and the wisdom and the enlightened views of are about to be elected.—Times.

VALUE OF PRACTICAL
ing proof of the value of the brilliant but visionary men start up in the affairs of the in the recent movements and Hungary. There the nation secured a liberalized constitution, recognition of their national rights, the violent revolutionary movement of Kossuth and his adherents of twenty years failed to effect. It is simply the result of the difference of enthusiasts like Kossuth, and of calm men of affairs like Desseanly, present leader of the nation in Hungary. Other countries in Europe have suffered in the account of being afflicted with incompetent agitators. Lamarque of the Revolution of 1848, Blanc, Ledru Rollin and others sacrificed the republic at the straining after unattainable to the king, and his followers were tune to Italy, and we fear that with all his devotion and patriotic valor, will finally be reduced to a catalogue of impracticable ideas. It is difficult for us to fail to understand the wisdom of the most of things as they find them; but we are sure that they lose the chance of doing that is within their reach, after theoretic perfection that is only to be attained by men on the way. Italy, France, England, and Germany, when their governments are in the hands of democratic parties shall have the same practical good results that we have had, but have been manifested by Deakins, instead of having the waste and their hopes dissipated by the visionary and impracticable ideas of men like Massini and Kom

THE NEW DOMINION.

The American papers generally, and even the New Dominion of Canada, and even the New York Times, which is usually so fair and candid when speaking of Canadian wrongs, indulge in a strain of sarcasm and aspersion. It says:

"Whether the Canadians are susceptible of pleasure being ridiculed with a smile is not about to be proved. At present they are in the habit of regarding with complacent iteration of delight at their established 'Dominion' instead of a 'Province' or 'Vicerey' instead of a 'Governor,' and of calling their 'Minister' a 'Governor' and their 'Ministry' 'Knights' and 'Dukes'—the 'Bath' in place of the 'pale'!—If the Canadians who have hitherto yielded to the 'Royal' and 'Imperial' have any sense at all, they would hardly try to do the opposite."

very just now wouldn't inspire any more admiration of aristocratic and imperial life. The Peers are denounced as imbeciles even the Queen and all the royal family are getting to be regarded as expensive and unprofitable luxuries. Canada besides, had to travel backward with the Lords, instead of forward with the Commons, her debt of $75,000,000 was increased by many fearful expenses, and she will have the work to do that England is now shirking under. However it's her larger affair."

The allusion to our debt and its proportionate increase is not altogether out of place. The practice of a most rigid system of economy at the very commencement of a political career, is of vital importance to the success of the new Dominion. I trust that when Parliament meets we shall adopt such measures as will effect reduction in the number of Cabinet ministers which have been called to the Executive Council. Seven, instead of ten, would be ample for all useful purposes. Ham. Times.

AMERICAN CONFEDERATION.—Monday last, was generally celebrated throughout the newly confederated Canadian Province as being the day on which the new Confederation was inaugurated. The movement is known as the "Dominion of America." Although still subject to Great Britain, its position is little below that of an independent nation. This is an important feature of national development on this continent, and if it suits the Canadian people, our own certainly ought to be so. The British is a mild form of monarchy; and if it secures the peace, happiness and prosperity of the world, why not ours?

extended, it should excite no jealousy or hostility. The establishment of a desirable government in Canada ought to be a subject of congratulation to the people of the States. While, fortunately, the people of the two governments are of the same race, time, cause, of difference may arise, and these can be much better adjusted by treating directly with Canadian neighbours, than through the Government. We have heard of a new Dominion, and wish her abundant prosperity.—Detroit Com. Advertiser.

made clothing business, and he told the gentleman from New York that when the rumor came to, after letting him try the clothes, he would say to him, that "a good deal of what he had given to a gentleman was a waste of money, but he was satisfied with it and returned the goods right in his customer. "Now you know," he said "men are more or less dishonest, so put a pocket cost in one of the trousers, which only cost me forty or fifty cents when he picks on the coat he puts his hands in the pockets and feels this pocket and says, 'this is the nice one for a coat, it has a little advance on the usual price; it comes back to us about it.'"

these men to such an extent that he was to secure credit, in some instances, for between $2,000 and $4,000; while jew-

Martin was looked upon generally reliable man, and presented little of the parade of a Yankee adventurer, especially in New York. On Friday morning, however, he found suddenly non est, and it was discovered that he had left that ter subsequently received from him by his creditors from the latter city, regarding the matter, stated that he was forced upon him by circumstances he could not avert — Globe.

BURRITT TRIAL.—The trial of John Burritt, charged with interest in advances of two pirate new light has very unexpectedly been cast. It is becoming increasingly manifest that Burritt played a leading and highly prominent part through the conspiracy which resulted in the liberation of the John A. Loring. Burritt was the abductor, the scheme was clear, but he was no active conspirator in the narrow plot is becoming less and less clear. The question as to the guilt or innocence of Burritt is, after all, of but secondary importance in other questions which are pending before the jury. It is fully answered. Burritt had certain close relations with Richmond. What mystery? Burritt had equally mysterious relations with Canada. What were they? He was in correspondence with some one in both the United States and Canada. Who were the conspirators? How many were they? Were those conspirators privy

New York paper asserts, upon information supplied to the War Department by Governor of Arizona, that Indian captured in the last article of overland mail among the States troops engaged in the extension of the red man in the far West. It is said, although it seems almost incredible, that some Indians, captive among the robes have been made to hostile tribes as a price of slaughter.
